JESSICA BRADLEY INC.

Toronto

Focus: Contemporary

Artists: Daniel Barrow, Shary Boyle, Julia Dault, Jessica Eaton, Zin Taylor

The gallery's name went from "Jessica Bradley Projects" to "Jessica Bradley Inc." this year, signaling a maturation and resolve that was borne out when the gallerist unveiled a second and much vaster location in Toronto's industrial west end last fall. Meanwhile, Bradley (formerly a curator at the Art Gallery of Ontario) is shepherding one of her star artists, Shary Boyle, to the 2013 Venice Biennale, and hers remains the only contemporary Canadian gallery to consistently navigate the international art fair circuit. In addition, Bradley recently announced she's representing rising photographer Jessica Eaton.

UNITED STATES

ACQUAVELLA

New York

Focus: Modern, contemporary

Artists: Damian Loeb, Enoc Perez, James Rosenquist, Wayne Thiebaud

Exhibitions of blue-chip modern masters are the main draw at this Upper East Side gallery located in a five-story town house. Founded in 1921 by Nicholas Acquavella, the gallery initially specialized in Italian Renaissance works before son William came on in 1960. Recently, William's daughter Eleanor and sons Nicholas and Alexander have joined the team, making it truly a family affair. The past year has seen notable group shows such as "The Pop Object: The Still Life Tradition in Pop Art," as well as "White Collar Crimes," curated by Vito Schnabel. Solo exhibitions have displayed the work of Wayne Thiebaud, James Rosenquist, and Lucian Freud.

GAGOSIAN

New York and Los Angeles, U.S.; London, U.K.; Rome, Italy; Athens, Greece; Paris, France; Geneva, Switzerland; Hong Kong, China

Focus: Modern, postwar, and contemporary

Artists: Jasper Johns, Jeff Koons, Takashi Murakami, Robert Rauschenberg, Cy Twombly

Larry Gagosian's global empire currently spans three continents and occupies 12 gallery spaces. With so much square footage, at any given time over a dozen blue-chip artists are on view in a Gagosian venue somewhere. In 2012 Damien Hirst (who has since broken away from the Gagosian pack) took over every location simultaneously, showing 331 of his signature spot paintings. Recently, the gallery has exhibited Richard Artschwager, John Chamberlain, Richard Prince, Ed Ruscha, Richard Serra, Andy Warhol, and Rachel Whiteread in cities worldwide.

GAVIN BROWN'S ENTERPRISE

New York

Focus: Contemporary

Artists: Uri Aran, Joe Bradley, Alex Katz, Laura Owens, Elaine Sturtevant

In 1993, dealer Gavin Brown showed Elizabeth Peyton drawings in a room at the Chelsea Hotel; one year later Gavin Brown's enterprise was born on Broome Street in SoHo. Early exhibitions included work by Peter Doig, Catherine Opie, and Rirkrit Tiravanija. After a stint in the Meatpacking District, the gallery found a home in the West Village and has been there since 2003. In 2010, it expanded, taking over the neighboring space vacated by LaFreida meats. The gallery remains committed to edgy shows of emerging and established artists, putting up work by Nick Relph, Jeremy Deller, and Alex Katz in the past year.

GREENE NAFTALI GALLERY

New York

Focus: Contemporary

Artists: Trisha Baga, Paul Chan, Rachel Harrison, Jacqueline Humphries, Guyton\Walker, Gedi Sibony

Founded by gallerist Carol Greene and art patron Gloria Naftali in 1995, this space was one of the first to open in Chelsea when SoHo began to wane as the center of the New York art world. In its early days, the gallery showed work by Tracey Emin, Jack Pierson, Chris Ofili, and Alex Katz. Known for conceptualist contemporary work, it has recently mounted exhibitions by Tony Conrad and Trisha Baga.

HONOR FRASER

Los Angeles

Focus: Contemporary

Artists: Glenn Kaino, KAWS, Kaz Oshiro, Mario Ybarra Jr., Brenna Youngblood

Scottish-born former fashion model Honor Fraser set up shop in Venice, California, in 2006 but made the move to the gallery's current address on La Cienega Boulevard the following year. The Johnston Marklee-designed space hosts shows of both emerging and midcareer artists. In the past year, the gallery has mounted exhibitions by Mario Ybarra Jr., David Ratcliff, Fay Ray, Sarah Cain, and Jill Magid.

KAVI GUPTA

Chicago, U.S.; Berlin, Germany

Focus: Contemporary

Artists: McArthur Binion, Theaster Gates, Angel Otero, Roxy Paine, Tony Tasset

When former investment banker Kavi Gupta opened his gallery 15 years ago, he created a burgeoning art scene in Chicago's West Loop neighborhood. A space in Berlin followed, and this year, Gupta is christening his second Chicago location. All three venues are committed to showing contemporary work by local and international talents, and the gallery recently welcomed multimedia artist Roxy Paine into its stable. Notable shows of the past year include painter and performer Clare E. Rojas and Los Angeles-based photographer Melanie Schiff, a native Chicagoan.

LUXEMBOURG & DAYAN

New York, U.S.; London, U.K.

Focus: Modern and contemporary

This gallery, ensconced in a town house on New York's Upper East Side, was founded by Daniella Luxembourg—formerly of Phillips, de Pury & Luxembourg—and Amalia Dayan in 2009 and has since opened a second space in London. Luxembourg & Dayan specializes in blue-chip modern and contemporary work; well-received exhibitions of the past have included historical surveys of Marcel Duchamp and Alberto Burri, as well as Jeff Koons's infamous "Made in Heaven" paintings. In the last year, the gallery has shown work by Mark Flood and Bjarne Melgaard.

LOCKS GALLERY

Philadelphia

Focus: Postwar and contemporary

Artists: Ann Agee, Jennifer Bartlett, Thomas Chimes, Jane Irish, Virgil Marti

Locks Gallery has been a staple of the Philadelphia art scene since 1968. In the past year, Locks has continued to intersperse shows of international contemporary artists like Orit Hofshi with historical surveys of 20th-century luminaries such as Louise Nevelson. The gallery also remains committed to promoting local artists—among them, Edna Andrade, Thomas Chimes, Jane Irish, and Elizabeth Osborne.

MARIAN GOODMAN GALLERY

New York, U.S.; Paris, France

Focus: Postwar and contemporary

Artists: Maurizio Cattelan, Rineke Dijkstra, William Kentridge, Gabriel Orozco, Tino Sehgal

For her gallery's inaugural exhibition, in 1977, Marian Goodman displayed works by then recently deceased artist Marcel Broodthaers. It was his first show in the U.S. and represented Goodman's imperative to introduce important European artists to the American art world. In 1995 Goodman opened a second space in Paris. The gallery has no shortage of star power—works by Ellsworth Kelly, Gerhard Richter, John Baldessari, Sol LeWitt, Richard Deacon, and Tacita Dean have been exhibited in the past year.

MATTHEW MARKS GALLERY

New York and Los Angeles

Focus: Contemporary

Artists: Thomas Demand, Nan Goldin, Ellsworth Kelly, Brice Marden, Ken Price

Since its founding in 1991, Matthew Marks has expanded to four separate spaces in New York's Chelsea gallery district and two Los Angeles spaces, which opened in January 2012. The gallery represents a roster of heavy hitters, including Jasper Johns, Darren Almond, and Tony Smith; most recently, it celebrated minimalist Ellsworth Kelly's 90th birthday with an exhibition of new paintings and sculptures that took over three of its Chelsea venues.

METRO PICTURES

New York

Focus: Contemporary

Artists: Olaf Breuning, Louise Lawler, David Maljkovic, Trevor Paglen, Cindy Sherman

Started in 1980 by Janelle Reiring and Helene Winer, Metro Pictures was an early supporter of Pictures Generation artists, including Cindy Sherman, Robert Longo, Sherrie Levine, and Richard Prince. Many of the same names remain on the roster today, though the rolls have expanded to include contemporary conceptual artists such as John Miller. Memorable shows from the past year include work from Trevor Paglen's ongoing project "The Last Pictures," as well as a Cindy Sherman display that ran concurrent with MoMA's blockbuster retrospective of the landmark feminist photographer's work.

SEAN KELLY GALLERY

New York

Focus: Contemporary

Artists: Marina Abramović, Antony Gormley, the Estate of Robert Mapplethorpe, Alec Soth, Kehinde Wiley

Brit Sean Kelly launched his eponymous gallery in SoHo in 1991 with a roster of artists that included Marina Abramović, Joseph Kosuth, and Julião Sarmiento. In 2001 his enterprise moved to Chelsea and took on Antony Gormley and Rebecca Horn, among others. Last year Sean Kelly moved again, to a gargantuan two-story, 22,000-square-foot space north of the traditional border of the Chelsea gallery district. Recent shows have included work by Terence Koh, Kehinde Wiley, and Peter Liversidge.
